Question 10a-f

Marks

Question 10 (16 marks)

(a) Why is the High Court of Andalucia's ruling significant? 2

Because they have been fighting this drinking case for years & it's about time they stopped this crime.

(b) How is a botellón different from other drinking activities? 2

Botellón is a game of making the loudest noises, & go on campaigns against the [redacted] High courts battle.

(c) Where do formal laws to control botellones already exist? 1

(A) Catalonia and Málaga ☐
(B) Barcelona and Bilbao ☑
(C) Madrid and Valencia ☐
(D) Valencia and Catalonia ☐

(d) According to the text, how do botellones negatively affect the environment? 2

[redacted] Well they say that they spend 1.200.000 euros every year on picking up the bottles & spew & other atrocities that come with it.

(e) How does the writer of the article use language to reflect the seriousness of this issue? 4

He expresses the seriousness by all the facts he includes in there like the numbers of people, the price of it, the consequences & where it happens & etc.

Question 10 continues on page 4

Marks

Question 10 (continued)

(f) The text mentions several solutions to botellones. How successful do you believe they would be? Justify your answer with evidence from the text. 5

One of the solutions was that they ~~they~~ brought in the law of selling alcohol to minors but shop owners just drop prices & keep selling them just to keep this strong tradition going. Another one was to stop supplying alcohol after 10pm until 8am but the problem with that is people will do their shopping earlier & will still have the drinks between those times.

End of Question 10

© Board of Studies NSW 2002