Q7

Evaluate the importance of artists' intentions in the production and meaning of artworks.

The importance of artists' intentions in the production and meaning of artworks is very important. Artists' just don't only do art because they love it but to also show the way that they feel. Their are heaps of meanings in artworks. They can tell us about things in the past (history) what they (artists) thought it would be in the future. The artists capture special, sentimental moments and unforgettable moments. Their main focus ~~main~~ may not be in the middle, the main focus can be anywhere on the page.

The brushstrokes, colours and they way they apply it can also tell us the mood and the meaning of the artwork. While artists' are in the production of the artwork they may change what they what to do
