Performers demonstrate substantial energy in their movement, however, some students lack vocal control in projection, timing and pitch.

Although movements are deliberate and sometimes strong they lack definition and at times precision.

The characters are realised and defined for the most part however they sometimes lack belief and conviction.