Dear Website designer

Hey my name is D I really liked your website on the Inuit people and there new way of life, it was fun to read, I liked it because it reminded me when I first got the internet or even a computer. It was a while back now, I remember my ~~best~~ friend asking me to come over for the first time I walking walked in she gave me a tour of her house and during that tour she took me to her dad's office I walking in and was shocked he had to of had at least 6 computers in his office I didnt know what to do with myself I love all those electronical games and stuff and nintendo, I looked around the room looking for a place to try out my new nintendo control pad I could bring over next time I come visit but to no luck could not find or even ^{imagin} ~~imagin~~ where I could put it heck I couldnt even find where I would put the game after at least a 5 to 10 min expection I was in computer heaven finally she broke me out of my daze with the invitation to show me her room I walked in and to my amazement she to had a computer I didnt know ^{whether} ~~whether~~ to kiss her run around the house jumping up and down or just to stay there and keep a smile on my face, luckily I ~~ate~~ my recommended amount of sleep that day and just smiled and looked at her then the computer and then her then computer until she got the idea finally those few little words came out of her mouth did you want to go on my computer, well I almost fainter. I managed to say a nice calm yes and he proceeded to her computer ive never seen such a thing it was so amazing. and that was just the start up screen after 15 mins of watching the screen saver she said theres more to the computer then that I nearly had a heart attack when she said this and then she showed me THE INTERNET I was dumbstruck have before have my eyes seen such a thing i didnt know
